This Is PRINCETON

... TO KNOCK OUT POLIO
Princeton's Chance Is Now.
"There has never been a medical project of this type and magnitude in Princeton before," says Dr. Archibald D. Sheeran, president of Princeton Hospital's medical and dental staff, in stressing the importance of the community-wide Sabin oral vaccine program which starts Sunday.

"This is the chance of a lifetime (and perhaps to save a life) for all men, women and children in the Princeton area. All of us should take advantage of this most effective means of knocking out this dreaded, still prevalent disease."

"We hope that everyone, and that means absolutely everyone over the age of six weeks, will take this unparalleled opportunity," Dr. Sheeran, who is also co-chairman of the program, continued. "To fail to do so would be negligent."

... JUST A FEW DROPS ON A LUMP OF SUGAR: Two students from Princeton Hospital's School of Practical Nursing, Geraldine Jacksonis and Judith Chorazy (far right), line up for the community-wide Sabin oral polio vaccine program. There will be three clinics here distributing the Type I vaccine, Sunday and a week from Sunday from noon to 4, at the Hospital, and at the Chambers and Harrison Street firehouses. E. Everett Campbell, president of the Society of Mercer County Pharmacists, shows preparation of the dosage while Dr. Benjamin K. Silverman (at left), general chairman of the program, looks on. (Staff Photo)

gence equal to inexpressible disregard of one's health and that of others," was another leading Princeton physician's reaffirmation of the great significance of the program. Any number of doctors have volunteered to participate directly in supervising the three clinic stations in town.

These three stations will be open from 12 noon to 4 p.m. this Sunday and next Sunday, December 15 to issue the Type I oral vaccine. Their location: Princeton Hospital and the Chambers Street and Harrison Street firehouses, with administration of the vaccine being handled by volunteer pharmacists from the area, members of the Society of Mercer County Pharmacists, of which E. Everett Campbell is president.

"This vaccine," Dr. Sheeran points out, "will not only help to protect the person who takes it against polio. It will also help prevent one from becoming a carrier and thereby conveying the disease to others."

Who Should Take It? In an effort to inform Princetonians fully of the vital importance of total participation in this program, TOWN TOPICS presents a series of questions on the subject which might be asked and answers based on informed medical opinion:

Q: "Who should take this vaccine?" A: Everyone, regardless of age, except for infants six-weeks-old or younger. Infants in that age group should receive the Sabin vaccine at a somewhat later date than from their physician.

Q: "I've had Salk vaccine injections, so should I take the Sabin vaccine also?" A: Absolutely; Salk vaccine provides only temporary protection. Sabin vaccine is fully expected to provide long-lasting protection.

Q: "I've had one dose of Sabin vaccine; should I take all three at these clinics?"

A: You should. There are three types of polio, and you need immunity to all three. The present clinics will provide immunity to Type I, subsequent clinics will administer vaccine for the two other types. There is absolutely no danger in repeating the one dose you took previously.

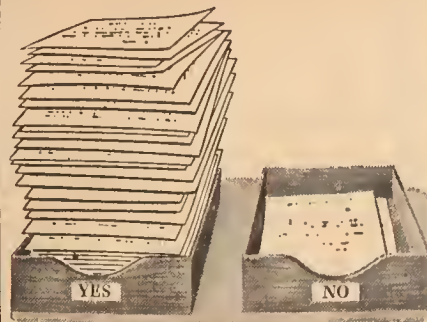

"Better be safe than sorry" definitely applies.

Q: "Will the Sabin vaccine make me feel woody or sick afterwards?" A: No; there are no aftereffects of that kind.

Q: "My daughter has had polio. Should she take the Sabin vaccine?" A: She should; she probably now has immunity to one type of polio but not to the other two. She should obviously be immunized against all three.

Q: "Does the needle hurt much?" A: There's no needle involved; you merely eat a small lump of sugar or piece of bread.

of cookie with a few drops of vaccine on it.

Q: "Some of my neighbors don't seem to know about the importance of this program. Is there anything I should do about it?" A: There certainly is. Run, don't walk to the nearest phone and tell them about it. If they still have any doubts about it, urge them to call their physician for his opinion. In this campaign, everyone should consider himself a volunteer to make the program a success.

Q: "What do you mean by 'success'?" A: Participation by 100% of those in the Princeton area. Less than that will mean only partial success. Participation by only 50% would be better than nothing, but it would be tantamount to failure in the effort to provide total immunization for the entire community.

Q: "How successful has this program been elsewhere?" A: Over forty million Americans are now immunized, and the program still has to start in many sections.

Q: "How much will the immunization cost me?" A: A voluntary contribution of 25 cents a dose for each individual is suggested to cover cost of the vaccine (all other parts of the program are being handled by doctors, druggists and countless others on a volunteer basis). But anyone who can't pay will receive the vaccine free. The object is 100% immunization, regardless of cost.

TO SELL NASSAU SCHOOL
On December 20, Nassau Street School will be auctioned off on Friday, December 20. The public sale is set for 11 a.m. in the board room at Princeton High School.

Interested parties aren't talking much, but among those known to be involved are an apartment house builder and a "group of substantial investors," as one broker described a client. Princeton University is rumored to be a potential bidder.

"It's a tight thing," one Princeton realtor commented. "With the purchase price, plus cost of renovations, plus taxes and so on, a speculator would almost have to have a triple-A tenant in his pocket."

The Borough Board of Education is requiring that the open bidding start at $550,000. The buyer must guarantee $35,000 yearly towards Borough school expenses for the next 25 years. The Board retains the right to reject the highest bid, and there will be no brokerage commission.

will be turned over by June 15, 1965, if all goes well with the proposed elementary center adjacent to the high school fields. According to William Miller, the school board's attorney for the building program, the property with a 327-foot frontage on Nassau Street is assessed at $500,000 and has a true value of between $750,000 and $1,500,000.

The Nassau Street frontage is zoned commercial and the rear area, adjacent to University property, is in the educational zone. "It looks to me," said a realtor who wishes to be unidentified, "as if it's well rigged in one direction—towards the University."

Queries directed to Princeton University drew "no comment" from Alfred L. Test, general manager of the University's real estate department. An official spokesman said, "It would be improper to answer at this time. It would only foul up the bidding." Proceeds of the sale will go towards the cost of the $2½ million elementary school now on the drawing boards. A bond issue of $1,278,000 was approved by the voters last October 15. The Board hopes to realize about $650,000 from the sale of the Nassau Street and Witherspoon Schools.

"NO"

Planners Say, "There isn't a chance in the world of your getting this through in Princeton."

The speaker: Webster Dodge, chairman of the Borough Planning Board. The occasion: an informal presentation Tuesday night of a plan to construct an H-shaped, 240-unit, high-rise apartment building on the Nassau Street School site.

Louis H. Cahan & Co. of Trenton appeared before the Planning Board on the suggestion of William Miller, Borough School Board attorney, and Graham Rohrer, school board president, to see how the Planning Board might react to such a structure before the firm actually placed its bid in the hopper.

The school site is scheduled to be sold at a public auction on December 20, but as Mr. Cahan told the Planning Board, if you're going to bid a quarter of a million an acre, you want to be pretty sure your plan has a chance of going through.

Mr. Cahan's building would have contained stores, offices and an outdoor swimming pool, in addition to the 240 apartments. It would have been six stories high with underground parking for 400 cars. It met all zoning requirements, Mr. Cahan said, except density and number of stories. It was one of the shortest Planning Board meetings on record: less than 30 minutes.

TOPICS Of the Town

PRESBYTERIAN UNION?

First Church holds Key. Before the three Presbyterian churches in center Princeton is a proposal of union. The session of Second Church has approved the idea, and it is believed that Witherspoon leaders will endorse the plan when they meet Monday.

The session of First Presbyterian Church met Tuesday evening; the results have not been disclosed. The Rev. Dr. Donald M. Meisel, pastor, is known to be opposed to the proposal. Members of the church's executive committee, composed of committee chairmen, are also known to be opposed. First Church, older and wealthier than Witherspoon and Second, has a congregation of 1700-1800 adults, greater than the combined membership of the others.

Among the interested observers is the Rev. Dr. Alan Winn, a trustee of the New Brunswick Presbytery, a member of its committee on strategy, and himself the pastor of a merged church, Coventry Presbyterian Church, Trenton.

"These mergers and relocations are going on all the time," Dr. Winn says. In his own experience in Trenton, ten or so years ago, there were five Presbyterian churches within four blocks of each other, with the Prospect church nearby. Today, all but First and Fourth have pulled out, and Prospect or Fourth may soon move.

"The real reason behind the mergers," Dr. Winn notes, "was the very poor strategy in distribution. It was uneconomical to run all these buildings in one area when people were not served in other areas." He added that each church was self-supporting at the time.

In several of the churches, the pulpits were vacant. The merger terms of Third and Fifth, which formed the new Coventry Church, required the resignations of the pastors. "Coventry pulled to the edge of the city," Dr. Winn says.

PRINCETON'S PERENNIAL SANTA: Henry Schultz, for the 14th consecutive year, will play St. Nick by telephone for hundreds of Princeton area children. Seventy-eight years old and blind, Mr. Schultz expects more than 1,200 calls this year. He can be reached at 924-3883 from 1 to 5 and from 6 to 8 every day of the week starting Monday through Christmas Eve.

"Locating half-way between two churches four miles apart. People on Sunday are not interested in going into town... We have received into our church a great many people — Methodists, Baptists, former Roman Catholics — who do not have a nearby church."

New Sanctuary. The Princeton Presbyterian Commission, by a vote of 10 to 2, propose two church buildings, one the present First Church and the other a new sanctuary away from the center of town.

"The idea is to get at least one Presbyterian church out to the country," comments Leonard E. Newton, Commission chairman, "and accomplish some of the work that we feel has to be done and isn't being done in the present parochial set-up."

He noted that Witherspoon Church has several options on land — "One of these pieces would be a good second site." Second Church has the offer of a 10-acre plot on Pretty Brook Road from Dean Mathey.

The present Second Church and Witherspoon Church could be sold or used for youth recreation or administration, Mr. Newton said. Century-old Second Church turned down an offer of $150,000 for its property in May 1962.

"After the new sanctuary became established," the Commission report states, "the congregation could choose whether to continue as one congregation under one session, or to become two congregations with two sessions."

Needs. The Commission lists 16 examples of areas in which "the witness of Presbyterians in Princeton lacks convincing power." It deplors the competitiveness of the three separate churches and their overlapping efforts. "The outreach of the Church is blunted and the needs of Presbyterians and the community are being only partly met."

The Commission says that merger of the three churches "is the best way to bring together all 2,700 (adult) Presbyterians in deciding what their future will be... We realize that union would bring many administrative problems, and that the inability of the single congregation to worship together is not ideal. But we are convinced that these problems would be much more than offset by the vitality and enthusiasm which we would find in unity."

Against Arguments put forth against union include problems of organization and administration, the difficulty of moderatorship of a combined session, and doubts that a spiritual unity might be attained.

Commission members who favor union are Henry S. Broad and John R. Yost of First Church; Mrs. Rose V. Cortelyou, Lawrence B. Johnston, Mrs. Mary A. Riker and the Rev. F. Hugh Lififton, all of Second Church; John W. Counts, George B. Field, Leonard Newton and the Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson, Witherspoon Church. Commissioners dissenting are the Rev. Dr.

Meisel and William E. Speers Jr., both of First Church.

"I Don't Know About It." Members of First Church, questioned at random on Sunday, seemed uninformed about the matter of union before their leaders. Two, a Princeton attorney and a woman new to the area, favor the idea of unity. No one said they did not favor it; most said, "I don't know much about it. I'd like to know more."

An elderly woman said, "They told us at our circle meeting that we are not supposed to talk about it until after the deacons have their meeting and give us their opinion."

Second Church. A member of Second Church commented, "It's a great opportunity. I think they should merge." A woman added, "It's rather silly to have three Presbyterian churches in a town the size of Princeton. They ought to work together." There were no opposing comments.

What Else? "A lot of people want something to be done," says the Commission chairman, "but they feel that this is too drastic a move. The Commission's feeling is, 'How do you do it any better?'"

COUSINS CO. PENALIZED

For Liquor Sale to Minor. At a special meeting of Mayor and Borough Council last week, Cousins Co. of Palmer Square had its liquor license suspended for 22 days starting January 5 for selling two bottles of whiskey and a case of beer to a 20-year-old Princeton undergraduate on September 27. The undergraduate, Joseph M. Anderson '65, acknowledged that he had used another student's name and picture in order to induce Cousins Co. to make the sale.

Anderson, who had been fined $15 and $5 costs by Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. at a previous court hearing on a charge of possession of alcoholic beverages by a minor, has also received strong disciplinary action from the University, according to Dean of Students William D.O. Lippincott. At the hearing last week, Anderson admitted that he had used similar methods on at least one earlier occasion to purchase liquor elsewhere in Princeton.

Anderson, who was apprehended by Ptl. Russell H. Shangle on John A. Street, at first denied to the officer that he had any identification with him—a denial he had also made a few minutes earlier at Cousins when making the purchase. But when Ptl. Shangle took him back to the store and, with Ptl. Stanley L. Donald, had him identified by the clerk as the purchaser, Anderson produced cards which gave his correct age as 20.

The sale had been made to Anderson, according to testimony, because of an alleged resemblance he had to the undergraduate whose name he used. The similarity in appearance was checked by the salesman in Cousins by use of a freshman year book prior to his making the sale.

In announcing the 22-day suspension, Mayor and Council acknowledged the difficulties caused Princeton liquor stores and their employees by such cases of fraudulent misrepresentation. Under the ABC regulations, however, a suspension is mandatory if the suspected minor has, among other things, not signed a statement of age, a step which Anderson had not been asked to take.

At the conclusion of the hearing, Mayor Patterson addressed himself directly to Mr. Anderson, pointing out the serious consequences of his misrepresentation. He also said that he would send a letter to President Robert F. Goheen to make sure of the University's help in eradicating deceptive actions of this type among undergraduates.

One of the reasons for such occurrences, according to a number of Princeton liquor store owners, is the lack of an adequate University identification card for undergraduates. According to Dean Lippincott, the question of a new, more detailed card is now under study. He also says that the University is anxious to cooperate fully in order to arrive at a solution to the problem.

Cousins Co. meanwhile has, on the advice of its attorney, taken steps to eliminate a re-

PENNINGTON YOUTH DIES

Half-Hour After Accident, John F. Roach, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Roach, Dublin Road, Pennington, died Friday evening of internal injuries a half-hour after his car hit a retaining wall at the intersection of Maddock and Bear Tavern Roads in Hopewell Township. Three passengers in the car were hospitalized with injuries.

Admitted to Trenton's Mercer Hospital were George Barclay, 18, Denow Road, Lawrence Township, fractured skull, lacerations and bruises; and Karen Wooley, 18, West Wellington Avenue, Pennington, multiple lacerations of the body. Another Pennington girl, Marnie Edwards, 18, King George Road, was admitted to Helene Fuld Hospital, Trenton, where she was treated for a fractured leg and lacerations.

Trooper Albert Waldron of the State Police said Roach's car apparently failed to make the turn onto Bear Tavern Road after approaching the intersection from the foot of the steep Maddock Road hill. The car crashed through a two-foot thick concrete wall about 20 minutes to midnight and dropped into a drainage ditch. The funeral was held at Blackwell Memorial Home in Pennington and a requiem high mass was celebrated at St. James Roman Catholic Church. Roach was a sophomore at Villanova College and a graduate of Hopewell Township High School.

News Of The THEATRES

MCCARTER SETS RECORD

"Success!" McCarter seems to be increasingly habit-forming. The Executive Director of McCarter Theatre, Arthur Lithgow, remarked this week that McCarter does indeed seem to be a habit, not only with people who live in Princeton, but with those who live in surrounding communities as well.

The theatre presented during its fall season 88 separate events, representing not only drama, but dance, music and a little puppetry thrown in for good measure. Almost 50,000 persons attended these 88 events.

Season subscriptions for the fall season were more than double those of last spring, and more than half again as many as last fall, according to Mrs. Herbert McAneny, general manager of the theatre.

Attendance at the 47 school matinees and regular evening performances of the Fall Drama Series increased by about one-fourth over the fall series last year. Mr. Lithgow said and the theatre played to an overall average capacity of about 60 percent. "Many persons have told us that they regarded the four plays of this past fall drama series to be the most successful group of productions overall since the residency of the APA Company at McCarter in 1960-61," Mr. Lithgow said.

TOWN TOPICS' critic would agree. But one question does arise: McCarter originally announced a theme, "The Distaff Side," but quietly dropped the theme idea in later publicity. The question is — why build a whole season around plays that feature women as leading characters? Why not plays about men? Or, to go farther, "Why have a theme at all?"

McCarter's drama series are intended, of course, to provide undergraduates with a living theatre of drama, and the plays are chosen with the students in mind.

This fall's distaff series was certainly calculated to turn innocent freshmen into cynical misogynists. In "Iledda Gable," "Long Day's Journey Into Night," "She Stoops to Conquer" and "The Playboy of the Western World," undergraduates had an opportunity to see a woman who ruined every husband she encountered, another woman who was a dope fiend, a young girl who lived a lie in order to catch her man and a lass who resorted to torture with burning coals when it turned out that her lad was not the murderer she thought him to be.

It's enough to make a man a bachelor for life. One asks, if there must be a theme and if it must be about women, why not Antigone? Rosalind? Saint Joan?

Of the four plays, "Long Day's Journey Into Night" remains in the mind as the strongest. It was a wise move to import, intact, a cast which had played the work often together, and the result was an artistically and emotionally rewarding production.

"She Stoops to Conquer" was a deliciously wrought comedy. "Iledda Gable" was a sound production marred only by a "Iledda" whose tensile strength was too low. It is unfair, in a way, to criticize "Playboy," the weakest offering of the four, because it played only twice — once on the evening before President Kennedy's death and again on the Saturday night following the assassination, when neither audience nor cast was in the mood for a comedy about wakes and killings.

Well, next spring — Shakespeare.

SHAKESPEARE IS NEXT In Spring Series. In honor of the 400th anniversary of Shakespeare's birth, McCarter will devote its entire spring series to the plays of Shakespeare. The series will open February 22.

The offerings, to be given in repertory, will be "Romeo and Juliet," "Othello," "The Taming of the Shrew." "Much Ado About Nothing" and "Richard III."

As a starter, McCarte will present on December 30 and 31 "The Hollow Crown," the Royal Shakespeare Company's production by and about the kings and queens of England. So far as anyone can calculate, this will be McCarte's first venture into a New Year's Eve offering. Curran will be at 8:30 both nights.

"CHALK CIRCLE" HERE
In Players' Production, Bertolt Brecht's fable, "The Caucasian Chalk Circle" will open this Friday at 8:30 p.m. in Murray Theatre on campus. The Community Players' production is directed by Edward Earle.

"Chalk Circle" is performed largely by players in colorful masks. The action is set at no particular time, in no particular country, with no particular people. After a bloody uprising, the townspeople don rubber masks symbolic of the aristocracy they have replaced. Each scene is staged entirely in one color, including costumes, sets, props and banners.

Following the opening, "Chalk Circle" will play again Saturday, and on Friday and Saturday, December 13 and 14, and 20 and 21, all at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets may be obtained at Male's Book Shop, 203 Nassau, or at Murray Theatre the night of each performance.

UNDERWATER ADVENTURE
Final in Film Series. An underwater documentary and adventure film by Princeton resident Stanton Waterman will be the final program in this year's Princeton Kiwanis Club travel-adventure film series. The program will be presented Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Princeton Playhouse.

In his most recent film, Mr. Waterman shows the black-coral divers off the Hawaiian island of Maui. Working at a depth of more than 200 feet, he documented the dangerous activities of the coral-harvesters, 23 of whom have drowned in the last three years.

Other important parts of the program include films of a trip to the most remote reef in the Bahamas, a look from only eight feet away at vicious shark behavior and research on the development of shark repellent. In addition to other sequences underwater, the film ends with a visit to a family on the Maine coast which has raised a pet seal from infancy to adulthood.

Mr. Waterman, a Princeton resident for the past five years, was honored last year at the International Underwater Film Festival. Musical score for his latest production was written by Princeton graduate Brooks Jones, until recently a member of the McCarte Theatre staff. Single admission tickets will be on sale at the Playhouse for these not holding season tickets. The charge will be $1.65 for adults, $1.10 for students.

"CINDERELLA" IS FIRST

In Children's Series. The 32nd season of the Children's Entertainment Series opens January 7 with the Traveling Playhouse production "Cinderella." All four plays in the series will be given at 3:30 p.m. at McCarte.

A musical, "Absolutely Time," by Maxmillion Productions, is scheduled for February 4. It will be followed by "Red Riding Hood," presented by the Musical Theatre for Children on March 3. The music for "Red Riding Hood," described as having "a wisp of Puccini and a snippet of Gian Carlo Menotti," is the work of

IT'S NEW To Us

A TOY AT THE TOP
Of Anyone's Stocking. Toys make Christmas. For the mother who shops, the grandmother who buys extravaganzas, or the adult who just watches from the sidelines, the toy and the bright eyes waiting for it are the most exciting part of the holiday.

In this issue, we'd like to broaden out from the toy department and include books, pictures, music, sports and such hobbies as knitting or painting. Adults need toys, too.

But let's begin with the children. We commend to your special attention a box, elsewhere in this column, describing the sudden wealth of puppets in Princeton for the winter season presumably. The puppet is one of the most ancient of toys, and its modern manifestations this year are delightful in deed. Stuff 'n Nonsense, Bellows, Clayton's, Allen's, Zinder's and Creative Playthings can all oblige.

Before we proceed, we might tell newcomers to town about Creative Playthings' retail outlet on the Princeton-Hightstown Road, easy to identify by its aqua blue tower. Hours are 10-4, Monday through Saturday.)

Ladies First. Girls have a difficult choice this year, deciding which is to be The Doll, Tammy and her family are all over town, apparently, but we saw them at Bambergers, Zinder's and Stuff 'n Nonsense. Clothes and such necessities as tennis racket and evening bag are all packed and ready. (About 69 cents for these accessory packages. Good for a stocking.)

Madame Alexander has "Funny" at Stuff 'n Nonsense; she's pink gingham all over, even to her face, with yarn hair, a felt grin, a patched dress and pantaloons. Most endearing.

Her friend is "Huggums," a 24-inch stuffed doll in jersey pajamas that WON'T COME OFF. A junior size Huggums, is about the cutest thing you could ever hug. She has a soft, cuddly body and a hard head, which is a splendid combination for any girl. Stuff just happens to have a cradle her size.

Effanbee's sleeping doll in pink check flannel gown is carrying HER six-inch sleeping doll, but the chain stops there and does not extend to infinity.

"Cupcake" wears seersucker pajamas and is so constituted that she can be dunked in the bath water with impunity. All these at Stuff 'n Nonsense.

Besides Tammy, Zinder's provides a home for Barbie and Ken, and Barbie's friend, Midge. Barbie has a Fashion Shop this year, with all the fixin's of a dress shop; a modeling salon, a rack for dresses, a showcase for jewelry and such. It is cardboard, "easily assembled." (There goes Christmas Eve!)

We like Zinder's Kissy the Kissing Doll. Everyone to her own hobby.

Bambergers, following its Italian motif this year, has some really lovely small dolls (six inches) for only $1, dressed in native costumes, with the country written on the tag in Italian: Inghilterra, Irlanda, Danemarca, and the like.

A teen-ager might like Bellows' long-legged stuffed doll with polka dot legs. She's a good two feet tall.

Housekeeping. To sustain this vast household a girl needs equipment. Bambergers has cabinet, sink, stove all the same height (28 inches) and matching refrigerator, each one in pink with chrome trim, priced at about $10-$12 each. (You can really put water in that sink.)

A two-battery electric washing machine, a copper-bottom kitchen set, the automatic can-opener with six cans of Libby's food (including, you lucky girl, sliced carrots) and the sewing machine and iron, and what more do you want? All at Bambergers.

Thorne's Pharmacy comes along with a breakfast tray that has a pop-up toaster (styrofoam toast), pretend fried eggs and orange juice, all in a tray. Urken's has Mirro aluminum exactly like Mother's, with cake and muffin tins, coffee pots and a splendidly ro-coco aluminum tea set with large teapot for all those friends. Urken's Heinz 57 soup kitchen has pots to match the soup.

icate little Japanese and Chinese tea sets, designed with flying dragon or willow pattern, $1.25.

Allen's has tables for the tea-cups, and chairs to pull up for a gossip chat. Both Allen's and Urken's have separate children's chairs, too.

The Prince of Prints

Fine reproductions of truly great art appear in two Princeton stores this year.

At the University Store, "the world's great drawings" at $1 each are available in reproduced pencil, ink, charcoal, wash, pastel — almost any graphic medium you can think of. They are printed on antique art paper, 14 by 18 inches, each with mat. A "Study of A Woman's Head" by Leonardo is particularly lovely, and so is a coast scene, with ships, by Constable. There's a Picasso "Blue Boy," too.

The Gallerie Tornabuoni in Florence, sends to Bambergers a collection of reproductions painted on inch-thick wood with painted antique gold border. We found a study by Leonardo for "The Last Supper" and the "Adam's Head" of Michaelangelo especially well done. Prices start at $6 and range to about $10.

Urken's is particularly fond of Boston rockers, musical rocking chairs, and a doll's bed with sides that go up and down. $5.

"Immediate Occupancy." For Sale; six-room Colonial, two-story; fireplace; all wood construction with striated pine wood roof; grey, with flower-boxes and coach lamps by the door; open-back construction to allow easy access. Unfurnished. Suitable for exclusive playroom. Stuff 'n Nonsense $50.

Also available: same model without fireplace, and with heavy cardboard construction. Neo-Georgian. $20.

Both are solid doll houses, completely open in the back with a front door that opens to a staircase, rooms big enough to furnish and live in with considerable style.

Here Come the Boys. Aurora's Tabletop Racing Set rides high at Zinder's. With two miniature (HO) cars, road sections, speed controls and innumerable other features, it's really a whole-family toy, for $19.99, but there are several varieties and prices. HO trains match, in scale.

At Mall Camera, the Atlas HO Motoring and Racing set is $10.95.

For boys with a touch of violence, Zinder's offers Fort Apache, or "Battleground," which consists of a shell-shooting machine gun, a helicopter, and bags, pontoon bridges and, natch, soldiers. "The Untouchables" has a street layout with Midtown Restaurant and the West Side Warehouse, and a cast of characters, some with their hands up, some with — Continued on Page 8 guns, and get-away cars by the dozen. Stuff 'n Nonsense fights it out from a castle, with knights for defenders. There's a cast of free-lancers, bags of frontier characters, soldiers in World War II uniform, jungle fighters, Confederate soldiers or farm animals, all ready to be deployed around whatever set-up you have in mind.

More peaceable souls may turn to Bamberger's "Mr. Kelly's Automatic Car-wash," which even has a water supply the water. Stuff has a Shell gasoline station imported from France.

With the Remco Caravelle transmitter receiver at Bamberger's, you can do both for only $9.98, no FCC license necessary.

At Stuff 'n Nonsense, we found some heavy wooden ears guaranteed for one whole year. Jeep, pick-up truck, convertible and fire-engine, all made in Michigan, for some reason.

Physical Fitness! The sports in your family will turn to the Sherwood hockey sticks and pucks at Tiger Auto Skates in every size are ready here, for men, women and children. Skating bags, too, and Puckmaster hockey pads.

Tiger has imported some skis for children and adults, with poles, helmets, gloves and all accessories. The Ski 20 Nassau, happens to be in this line, too.

A Toy For Every Age On Your List

Pre-School. Zinder's Playskool wagon in red, white and blue, sturdy wood, two and one-half feet long, to ride in or to tug. Or Creative Playthings' Beginner Block Set for $16.95, or, if the family is large, the $55 set of 214 blocks in 28 different shapes. A blue-chip investment.

Kindergarten. Creative Playthings' giant "ride 'em" trucks, trains, tractors, ferry boats, buses, made of clear poplar wood, all with rubber-tired wheels. $13.50 and up.

Boys, 5-8. Bamberger's Lineman's tool belt, with regular-size steel alloy tools, for $2.29.

Girls, 5-8. Stuff 'n Nonsense's "Muffin," a baby doll with a strip of felt for a grin, an eyelet dress and lacey bonnet with pink bow.

Boys 8-10. "Torpedo," the wooden Canadian toboggan at Tiger Auto.

Girls, 8-10. Bellows' Swiss embroidery basket with silk-floss, nine spools of colored thread and something to embroider. Or, the felt-lined jewelbox with a gold key to keep little sister out.

Boys, early teens. Zinder's and Stuff 'n Nonsense's Cor-gl cars, two and three inches long. We like the Glia-Fiat and the Mercedes 300 SL. Luggage compartments open, ambulance lights flash, cranes move.

Girls, early teens. King Ping's Japanese "Saki" bag in vivid yellow, orange and blue with Japanese good-luck signs, for carrying skates, books, or hair rollers. $1.95.

Urken's sends them outdoors on Christmas Day with volleyball, football and soccer balls, and so does Bamberger's. Tiger sends them even farther away with new shotguns, and racks and cases for guns already at hand. Bamberger's has some all-rubber hunting boots for $6 and dacron sleeping bags if you want to get up before the ducks.

Golfers have Wilson, Spalding and Custom-Built clubs to choose from at Bamberger's, and a Roll King golf cart for $14.99. Tiger tees off from a gold-plated tee, no less, provided by Caprice in a set with putting cup and balls.

Roll Away. The shiniest new Schwinn and Raleigh bikes at Kopp's Cycle Shop! (You can even get a puce-colored bike. Did you know?) Horns, lights, bells, baskets, locks, pedometers, trouser bands, reflectors, seat covers — you know anybody with a bike? Kopp also has Murray tricycles for the uninitiated. Bikes at Bamberger's and Urken's, too.

The "Sports Roadster" at Tiger Auto has a "radio," like a little music box. This is a car you can really ride in, you know. Tiger has, presumably as a second car, a "Country Squire" wagon with high wooden slat sides. Radio Flyer is the big wagon at Urken's.

Bamberger's lot displays a stake wagon, a tractor and a fire-chief's car, for young gentlemen with an urge to make noise. For snow, there is Snow-Wing, a blunt-nosed wedge which steers like a sled. Flexible Flyer sleds, always indestructible, are at Tiger and Urken.

Science is always with us and the chemistry set is almost as much of a Christmas staple as the sled. "Let's Explore Chemistry," suggests Mall Camera, exhibiting Nathan Feifer's book of that name. Lab sets have the requisite real frogs and grasshoppers, with glassware and tools.

"How to Dissect" helps the neophyte with scalpel and microscope. Mall Camera has microscope sets from $5.95, with instruments by Tasco. One $9.97 set has 750-power microscope with zoom lens, four objectives, built-in light and its own wooden case. A fine student set at $21.95 has three eye-pieces and four objectives. Microscopes in these kits may be had as high as 1200 power.

"Discover the Stars," by Johnson and Adler, is a guidebook to the heavens. Mall Camera suggests it with Tasco telescopes. One is a collapsible pocket telescope in its own case, for $4.95. Others go on up in price and size.

Bamberger's Gilbert Microscope and Laboratory Set ($13.95) has a 1000-power telescope with group viewer ("Cub Scouts"). At Zinder's, they like the Plastic Lab, put out by Lionel. With it you can make heat-sealed products and explore the world of plastics, and maybe find yourself a career.

The World-Maker Kit is not for power-hungry tyrants, but for anyone. With the kit you make a plastic, three-dimensional globe, with continents that snap together or snap apart. Mountains! Valleys!

'HOLLOW CROWN' COMING

For New Year's Offering. "The Hollow Crown," John Barton's Broadway hit of last season, will have its premiere tour performances at McCarter December 30 and 31 at 8:30. Tickets will be on sale at the boxoffice at 10 a.m. Monday.

Believed to be a McCarter "first," the New Year's Eve performance will end in ample time for the audience to celebrate at midnight. A special "toddy" will be served during intermission and before and after the performance.

"The production is subtitled "A Royal Revue: An entertainment by and about the Kings and Queens of England," and includes music about and by the monarchs. Poetry, speeches, letters and other writings are drawn from the Chronicles, plays and their own words.

The Royal Shakespeare Company originally presented "The Hollow Crown" at Stratford-on-Avon and London before bringing it to New York. Howard Taubman of the Times commented on the production as "an enchanting evening."

PLAYHOUSE AND PRINCE

The Wheeler Dealers (now showing) is a satire on Wall Street and those peculiar range-fed animals, Texas millionaires. It's about as crowded with humor as Wall Street is with people on any Sunday. And, as for Texas jokes, it's likely to be a long time, if ever, before anyone finds any humor in them again.

James Garner is the leading wheeler dealer, defined in the movie as a "man who knows you don't go wheeling and dealing for money — you do it for fun." Money is just the way you keep score. Lee Remick is cast as a chick in a brokerage firm about whom Garner is plumb loco and with whom he is indicted on charges of fraudulent stock "killing."

In spite of a script that frequently is as overdone and thin as a Texan's idea of good of the ex-Nazi guilt reaction, able to put it over, "Condemned" ends up as a no-conscience polemic against an obvious evil. In sum, it shrinks to little more than a melodrama for a potentially stimulating, badly biting commentary on the violent excesses of the time.

Look, Ma, No Hands!

The quieter moments of a motion picture are occasionally given an unanticipated lift. One such incident occurred last week at the Playhouse during a showing of "Under the Yum Yum Tree."

Action: Curvaceous Carol Lynley and Dean Jones melt into a truly prolonged embrace — the kind that spreads a blanket-like silence over the entire theatre.

Comment: (in a high-pitched treble from an enchanted five-year-old): "Wow, he can't even let go!"

steak, Garner and Remick do their best. But their best is only good enough to make this a mildly amusing job. Generally, it's as full of laughs as the financial pages of The New York Times.

This improbable Wall Street journal rolls along with the erratic speed and direction of a Texas tumblin' tumbleweed. Sometimes funny, mostly not, it certainly isn't "big board" in quality.

GARDEN

The Condemned of Altona (now showing) addresses itself to the theme that Hitlerism was, and is, hateful. In this country, we expect and hope, there is really little room for debate on the matter — opposing Hitlerism is a little like being against fratricide — and it's a tough assignment to present the issue in a pro-and-con or, for that matter, in an interesting way.

"Condemned," based on a play by Jean-Paul Sartre, would seem to have a lot going for it. It was directed by Vittorio De Sica, it stars Oscar-winners Sophia Loren and Maximilian Schell, along with Frederic March and Robert Wagner, it was scripted by Abby Mann, Oscar-recipient for "Judgement at Nurnberg." But it comes off as a stagey presentation, helped not at all by a wobbly, preachy script and uneven acting.

The "action," which is mostly over-talkative, self-consciously didactic soul-searching

Three in Township. In Princeton, the Township was the scene of a two-car accident on Nassau Street; still another mishap near Stony Brook Bridge on Mercer Road and a madeup drive by a Trenton woman on Route 206 which recalled memories of Mack Sennell.

Early Saturday morning at 1:30, Joel Lewis, 27, 12 Green Street, was charged with careless driving when he smashed into the rear of a car operated by Adrian Colley, 24, 232 Russell Road. Mr. Colley and a passenger in his car, Carroll Butlerworth, 22, 240 Snowden Lane, were slightly injured.

Traveling on Nassau Street, Mr. Colley had stopped to turn left onto Snowden when he was struck. The impact caused his car to knock out a section of a stone wall in front of 472 Princeton-Kings Road and knock down an "All Saints Chapel" sign.

At the time, it was raining and the roadway was wet and slippery. Police said both drivers reported they could not remember what had happened. Mr. Colley's small foreign car was a total loss, both were towed away.

Dogs Cause Skid. Two dogs led to last week's accident near Stony Brook Bridge. H R

X MARKS THE SPOT: An unidentified truck which slowed but did not stop turned this Public Service pole on Route 206 into a Cross of Lorraine shortly before noon on Tuesday. (Staff Photo)

Tippett, 46, Wertsville Road, Sehanic, told Township police that as he approached the bridge, he saw two dogs appear from the right. To avoid hitting them, he slammed on his brakes.

This, he said, caused his 1964 sedan to skid to the left, into the path of a car coming in the opposite direction. The driver of the second car was Robert V. Dilley, 55, 80 Stockton Street. Neither driver was injured, nor were any charges made by the police.

Cuts Destructive Path. Leaving a trail of destruction rivaling that of Sherman's march to the sea, Gertrude W. Porter, 27, of Trenton, won the battle but lost the war when Township police charged her with careless driving, failing to report an accident and leaving the scene of an accident.

Mrs. Porter's adventure began Saturday evening at 7 on Route 206 in the vicinity of Bruer's Hill. According to Saeed A. Shirani, 26, 224-A King Street, who reported the accident to Township police, he was driving on Route 206 just west of Bruer's Hill when a car passed his on the right and side-swiped it.

Then, he said, the car ran off the road and crashed into a fence bordering the property of George R. Cook 3rd, knocking down about 25 feet of the fence and three reinforced concrete posts.

Continuing, he described how the red and white Buick headed back toward the road, side-swiped his car again, and continued on across the road and crashed into a fence on the other side. Here the errant car knocked down some 30 feet of fence on the property of W. T. White. It continued on about 40 more feet into a field, dodging trees, before it returned to the highway and sped off.

Police traced the car to Mrs. Porter after Mr. Shirani noted the registration and reported the information.

WATTS' STORE ROBBED. Owners Are Beaten. For the second time in two months and the third time in a year, Watts' Grocery Store on Route 206 was held up early last Wednesday morning. Township Police reported that the owners—Raymond and Mary Watts, both 63—were beaten by three thugs who escaped with approximately $200.

According to police, Raymond Watts was beaten unconscious in his bedroom to the rear of the general store while his wife received multiple cuts and bruises of the head, face and neck. Both were treated at Princeton Hospital and released.

Mrs. Watts was behind the counter alone when the three men—two white and one Negro—entered at 2:45 a.m. She was struck down while another looted the cash drawer. The third hoodlum attacked Mr. Watts who had just gone to bed.

Receiving a call on the hold-up, Township police sped to the scene. Descriptions of the men were quickly obtained from the Watts' and a 20-man Township force was joined in the search by Borough Police, State Troopers and a police dog unit. The three managed to slip this tight net, however.

Familiar to many who pass it every day, Watts' store until recently had remained open 24 hours a day. Not long ago, the owners began to close at 4 a.m. The all-purpose store is located about three miles north of the Township line in Montgomery Township.

Detectives Fred Porter and Norman Servis are in charge of the investigation. Township Chief of Police James B. Campbell reported this week that the police had made progress and that arrests would be made soon.

Alarm Foils Robbers. Princeton Borough police questioned three men early this week—two Negroes and a white man—in connection with the Watts robbery after the trio had been apprehended early Monday morning as suspects in an attempted entry into the Pink Elephant, 252 Nassau Street.

They are Sherman Smith, 26, of Somerville, and Edward Laughlin and Carl Walker, both 23, both of Plainfield. They were apprehended by Township Police on Route 206 near the Rug Mart.

They were stopped following an alarm that three men had attempted to enter the Pink Elephant and were fleeing in a black and white Oldsmobile. They were held all day for

When Mrs. Zee Makes News.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
Mr. Bergesen's letter (TOWN TOPICS, November 28) asking why people involved in traffic accidents slavishly merit having their ages quoted seems timely. You answer that age is useful information. TOWN TOPICS begs the question in not answering why age is useful. Mr. Bergesen had bent over backwards conjuring up a case where age seemed not relevant. Try this example:
The local alumnae of Alpha College are meeting at a member's home to discuss a scholarship fund. Mrs. Zee is to chair the meeting. The hostess calls the item to the paper.

The paper accommodates her, and the story appears as stated, including Mrs. Zee but not her age, which the hostess judged not relevant. During the meeting, a car driven by T. Jefferson Jones strikes Mrs. Zee's parked car. The damage to her car exceeds $100 and Mrs. Zee has again made the paper—this time with her age. Now it is hard to see why Mrs. Zee's age is more useful information in the one item than in the other. Moreover, although the hostess would disagree freely in many accidents, in discussing this one with friends she leaves Mrs. Zee's age out of it, again judging this not relevant.

The Chicago Tribune once had a proclivity for an oppositional colored after the names of people with dark skin. As a play on this, the campus newspaper at the University of Chicago once put out an issue with every name slavishly followed by an oppositional white, black, yellow, brown or red.

Most readers did not find this useful, just humorous as intended. Today it is generally recognized that the list for an oppositional skin-color identification is the pertinency of the identification, not the mere availability of skin color. And perhaps it should be so with age. Mere availability of age on police reports should not be the test.

Decisions as to the pertinency of skin color or age present problems. Some of us, in our peculiarly human ways, are really curious if T. Jefferson Jones is colored or if Mrs. Zee's age is such-and-such. Yet it is an editorial function to judge what curiosities are usefully satisfied.

The point has been stretched in comparing age and skin color. This age matter is admittedly minute. Yet it deserves a small amount of attention from the editor. Age undoubtedly is relevant in many accidents, but probably not in all.

W H FONGER
174 Guyot Avenue

Editor's Note: In Mr. Fonger's amusing hypothesis, Mrs. Zee actually wouldn't have made the paper with her age merely because her parked car was whacked by an errant driver. On the other hand, as the principal figure in an accident case, he would have.

The decisions are admittedly hairline, and it should be added that there have been instances when revelation of a woman's age has far exceeded in interest the fact that she was in a routine accident.

Today, of course, no fair-minded newspaper identifies anyone by his skin color save when such a fact is justified by the story itself. Examples: a man wanted for armed robbery is described as "white, about 30, 5 feet, 10 inches," etc.; a Negro who brings credit to his race by becoming the first to hold a particular position is normally so identified. TOWN TOPICS' thanks to Mr. Fonger for numerous valid points. Any other comments?

Day of Mourning Black Mark.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
On Friday, November 22nd, our beloved President was assassinated by traitor bullets. On Saturday, November 23rd, President Johnson asked all American citizens, in a Proclamation, to observe Monday as a day of mourning. . . .
On Monday I reported for work at 8 a.m. At 8:30 a foreman came around and informed us that the plant would be closed from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. This is what followed:

(1) Foreman informed us that, if we went to a church in Rocky Hill, we would get paid. If we went home to our own church we would not get paid.

(2) At 9:40 a.m. another company representative told us we could go home if we told our foreman. This many of us did, and in turn the foreman asked who would later return to work and who would remain home. I said I would try my best to return. (After all I had to drive 20 miles home, dress, go to services, return home after services and return to work, all in a period of three hours).

(3) Before we left I asked my shift supervisor what would happen if we went home and did not return by 2 p.m. He informed me that there was a good chance that we could get paid for our time off if we returned but did not imply that any measures would be taken against anyone not returning in time. (After all it was a national day of mourning.)

(4) I left at 11 to go home to Trenton to change and to go to church services. . . . After church I watched the conclusion of the solemn services on T.V. . . .

(5) I then called my shift supervisor and told him that I wouldn't be back because of the sorrowful state of mind that my wife and I were in after the services. He in turn thanked me for calling and hung up.

(6) The next day . . . I received this memorandum:

"To: R. Bracy
"From: Shift Supervisor (Hercules Powder)

"An entry is being put into your work record to the effect that you failed to report back to work today after being excused to attend a memorial service for the late President. Only because of the extenuating circumstances are you not being more severely disciplined. . . ."

(7) Conclusion: Because I went to a church of my choice and also paid tribute to our late President, I now have a black mark against my work record. What a price for Freedom of Religion and for mourning a President who died for our country!"

Question of the Week

Question: Do you think the murder of President Kennedy and Lee Oswald will have any lasting effect on the way others see us?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Malcolm Lord, Search Avenue, Pennington, carpenter: No, I don't think it will. What's done is done. I think what we do from here on is what is most important. I think all eyes will be on us now.

John Carlton, Trenton, foreman for Harold Boughton, builder: In my opinion, I think the world is startled on that affair. I think they see it as a tragic event, but I don't think it will have any lasting effect. It all depends on President Johnson now.

Charles K. Agle, 247 Elm Road, architect: Yes, I do. You take England, for example. It has not had any assassinations or political upheavals for 100 years. And the fact that we have this barbaric behavior in this country makes it impossible for us to maintain an attitude of being a leader of civilization over and above more backward countries. In other words, they can say now that we are just as barbaric as any nation in the world.

Peter Whitney, Palton Hall, Princeton University junior: If we are able to weather the crisis well, I think it could have some good effect in that it might show the strength of our political system; that we are able to have terrible things like this happen yet continue the normal processes of government. It could, however, worsen the already bad state of the Alliance for Progress because Latin American nations identify Kennedy as the leader of the administration which began the program.

Alan Richards, Princeton, Kingslan Road, photographer: I think it will have an opposite effect. I think out of this dreadful tragedy, we may become stronger. I actually feel that the manner in which this nation took this tragedy and the strength of character shown by his widow will make the world feel that we will endure. In other words, every man, woman and child in the United States today can stand a little taller because of the courage of an American woman who stood before the world unbowed in her grief. She was tremendous; a profile in courage.

Mrs. Allison Smart, Princeton, associate, The Town Shop: Yes, I certainly do think this will have a lasting effect because no one could ever believe this could happen in the United States—here where we uphold ourselves as being so law-abiding.

Harold Schwartz, Route 206, owner of Princeton Motors: I certainly think it has had an immediate effect—an adverse one. But I wouldn't want to comment on whether it will be a lasting effect. I think in time, perhaps, we will overcome it. Memories are short—for good and bad.

Boyce Penninger, Woodsville, architect and structural inspector for new Woodrow Wilson building: I think it is a shame that they can protect a criminal like Valachi but not a man like Oswald, important as he was. He should have been moped with the utmost secrecy and to hell with the press. I think in a matter of time all will be forgotten. The killing of our President can obviously be used for propaganda purposes by other countries but what is more important is not so much what other people think about the assassination as what the American people themselves think. That's the real insult to this country. That something like this can happen here.

Martin Gerwin, Graduate college, philosophy: I hope not but I'm afraid it will. The impression people of other countries get of the United States is through its western movies and TV and the like. It's a country where, if you don't like a man, you go out and shoot him; if you don't respect your laws, you go and attack the men who embody them. Now, people abroad will think that this impression is right after all. I'm from Canada and I don't think there was any American president who was liked as much as Kennedy was.

Teri Ann Dinlow, student at Endicott Junior College, here for an internship with WJLB University radio station: Yes, definitely, especially by the countries that are underdeveloped. I think Communism can use this in their propaganda against us. Especially since President Kennedy was a very forceful president. He tried to get the issues of freedom across. Now, I think the Communist people can use this to say the American people were against President Kennedy and what he stood for.

William Callahan, Ewing, educational representative for the Department of Motor Vehicles: No, because I think in every country there have been assassinations. After all, it's been a long time since we have had one. There hasn't been one—a successful one at least—since McKinley and that was over 60 years ago.

Leonard DiDonato, 2 Tall Timbers Drive, construction engineer: Yes, I think so. I think people in foreign lands will probably take the same opinion I did: I didn't realize this sort of thing could happen in a country like ours. You associate this with the politics of countries in the Middle East and Latin American but not like ours. Japan was once known for political rule by assassination but this has never been the policy of the American people. I do feel, though, with the extensive and graphic coverage by the news media the other nations do realize how this happened and I don't think it will be held against the American people.

Mrs. John Gaman, NJSP, Skillman, researcher: No, I don't think it will have any lasting effect. I think it will make Europeans realize that the United States can be a great yet still violent country. Probably, because it gave refuge to people who fled from violence. A lot of them have been pretty close to violence—those who fled from Hungary, for example. I come from England and there are not many people who haven't lived there all their lives. But in other countries people live with revolution and upheaval.

Howard Bonghey, Jr., 223 Eisenhower Street, graduate student, sociology: I think even more profoundly, what will be the effect on ourselves, reminding us of the fragile and delicate value of a democratic system in which a minimum of consensus is absolutely necessary as a base for the fighting out of conflicts. The tradition of violence is now seen more clearly than ever to be the most burdensome anachronism we carry with us from the brutal past.

George Dowers, 40 Leigh Avenue, grounds and building staff, Princeton University: No, I don't think so. It won't have any lasting effect because, basically, the American government stays the same all the time. The loss of one man—even though he be a great president—doesn't necessarily mean that this country will then take a step backward.

And you'll recall from last year the three-legged stool whose seat is a five-diopter wide-angle lens. Sit on the ground, put the stool over your knees and — look at that bug!

Natural scientists will want binoculars from Mall Camera, priced from $39.95, and made by Agfa or Bushnell. If you like to travel around and show your scientific efforts to audiences, Mall has a portable slide projector which can be folded and carried over your shoulder in a small leather case. It can handle a film strip. $19.95.

FIRST CHRISTMAS

Young and Growing. For infants, Stuff 'n Nonsense wraps up a Humpty-Dumpty pillow with a mouth that zips, a vest that laces, eyes that button and arms and legs that snap. How's that for practice when you're alone in a crib?

If you're older, there's a delightful amusement park with a map to set it all on, a stubby wooden painted train, a carousel, boats in water and a swing. And a musical top with train or boats that go around and around and around . . .

Playskool stocks Zinder's with a giant box of kindergarten blocks, made of wood with a clean, clear finish: arches, straight-aways — everything. A wooden village by Playskool has component parts to assemble into a small town.

Playskool is at Allen's, too. Here we found a cobbler's bench and calculation blocks to add up. Allen's is the studios store, with roll-top desks for executives, flat-top desks for students and writing desks for correspondents.

Both Allen's and Thorne's

Any Number Can Play Any Game

A good game is fun for any age, and there never was a better "family" present. We mention a few here, but don't forget that because of the wide distribution of nationally manufactured games, you may find the one you're looking for in a store which doesn't happen to appear in this list.

Kalah. Ajax and Achilles played this one during the siege of Troy. Pictures of it have been found on tombs as ancient as the sands themselves. Maharajas used to play it, using sapphires and rubies for the stones. African chiefs have played it with slave girls for stakes in a special permit to acquire to play this African form in Borough or Township. We can't speak for West Windsor.

At Stuff 'n Nonsense, the Kalah set is a smooth wooden board with 16 wooden cups to hold the pebbles. The game is easy, for children, or deliciously complex, for adults AND children, depending on the number of pebbles used. $4.50 or $6.

Mousetrap. Zinder's and Bamberger's have this insanelly wonderful game built around a hilarious combination of Rubik Goldberg traps and springs. Good for daddies who are bored with Monopoly.

Haunted House. Zinder's will scare the life out of you with this one. It's a three-story mansion in splendid decay, with trap doors, a skeleton key and a treasure you have to find to win.

Bowling. All the bowling equipment you need at Tiger Auto. Choose your ball and Tiger will drill it to your finger size. Bags and shoes are here, too.

Table Tennis. Urken's urges you on with the Sportcraft ping pong set, and suggests leather tennis as a chaser.

Poker. Set up your own smoke-filled room with this eight-place poker table. 52 inches in diameter, with green felt top and eight ashtrays. The ante: $80.

off with a size one in bright red Christmas velvet with innocent white angel blouse. (Pants and shirt for boys). Many varieties of this enchanting toddler's outfit for Christmas.

An older girl will wear Allen's champagne organza with full skirt, deep horizontal tucks, round neck and embroidery on the yoke. (Or the royal velvet shift).

Bellows' party dress is a pink (or blue) organza shift with six delicate sprays of embroidery and one bow to make the waist. The older girl who shops at Bellows will wear the

STUFFED

"Which Are You?" "Furious." "Bored." "Sad." "Happy." Each of the four sides of an hour-glass shaped stuffed doll at Bellows indicates the emotional state of the owner by the expression on the doll's face. We like "Bored" best. A green cotton Hootenanny is 15 inches tall, with black mask and hat and an orange felt guitar. You need a teen-ager to appreciate this one.

Country Mouse introduces King Babar and his family: Queen Celeste, Cousin Arthur and the rest, priced from $6.95, and made about 12 inches tall in fine, taut cotton. Delightful for any child who knows the Babar stories.

Allen's squeezes all its little plush stuffed animals into a big, endearing pile: flop-eared bunnies, pink puppies, big Teddy bears. Good way to keep them warm. For TV watchers, there are a tiger, a bear, a horse and a — what is he anyhow? — to sit on in comfort while you watch. $8.98.

Thorne's likes the kind of stuffed toy you can take to bath with you, so Thorne's are likely to be Terry-and-foam. But there are others: a big plush dog with brush, palette and smock, for one.

Kinder's has an orlon puff with wall-eyes that says "Adorable YOU!" on its tag.

At Kesler and Bellis in Hopevelt, a puppydog stretches and yawns while his music-box plays, and a yellow horse with flowers in his red mane, has a gentle tune inside, with all the hay.

The Clothes Line has our favorite a little green snail, stuffed presumably with garlic butter. A yellow-orange giraffe is wonderful to pull around as a kind of friend, and a turquoise whale with a sassy red tongue, is big enough (and friendly enough) for you to ride on. Washable stuffed animals include seals, (well, naturally, washable) lions, dachshunds, kittens and a grey and white camel with one hump.

Clayton's has "Grissy," a donkey made of plush, on wheels, standing many, many hands high. He's $55, and definitely in the "granmother category."

sleeveless basket-weave wool shift with its coral skirt, cream top and embroidered wool flower.

The older girl who takes her grandmother to Allen's will choose the black velvet with full skirt, white tating at round neck and embroidered pink rosebud on the left shoulder.

For play, there is a Winnie-the-Pooh denim jumper with red checked blouse and Pooh and Tigger on the A-line skirt at The Clothes Line. A bright red smoked jumper with white collar and black tie, has Pooh and his balloon.

Who's Tired? For lounging after a terribly hard day, there is Kome Pin's Happy Coat box, in bright red or black, and kimono for girls, in golden points.

Bellows' girls slip into turquoise velvet Capri pants, if they're about eight years old, and the Chinese style top. For size four there is a dacton and cotton gown and peignoir, breathtaking in pale pink with tucked yoke and lace. Hope she's a blonde.

A pink orlon pile robe will make a three-year-old cuddler, or than her own doll. Bellows suggests it, but also likes the raspberry orlon pile, more or less similar in style.

For Allen customers, there is a quilted calico robe, and a quilted orlon with pastel blouse. The pale green one has lace-edged pockets and lace around the yoke.

The Lollypop at Hult's is a bubble, a scrubbable fluffy slipper in butterscotch or cherry. It comes high enough to warm the anklebone, $3.95. Oomphies present a nice puff of fur on top of pink or blue corduroy, for a most feminine little foot.

SKI or SNOW. Girls headed for the outdoors will want Allen's white pile snowjacket, size 31 with its pale blue snowflake. Older sister will unwrap the wildly gay ski jacket with its fur edged hood. Allen's has them in a steel blue French print on white, or explosive red, white and blue star flowers.

The Ski, at 20 Nassau, has children's ski jackets, for slope or just for play at home. Bright red, royal, or powder blue, and a charming provincial print in powdery corduroy.

Depending on the girl—Bellows, of course, has a complete lay-out for the horsewoman boots, jackets, caps, jodpurs. With a Christmas morning for some equestrienne.

You might also put into a girl's knee-length stocking the Anorak jacket, a nylon wind-breaker from Kester and Bellows, or the striped blue white, red white bulky knit sweater from K & B. Tucked with flannel slacks.

Allen's has heavy outer wearers, Jaguar style, or slim

Just to Keep Your Hand In...

We've never seen so many enchanting puppets as the ones that have come to town for this Christmas season.

Stuff 'n Nonsense. The most exciting newcomer is a wooden marionette dragon, 18 inches tongue-to-tail, pink belly and black wings, with more than a dozen strings to make him writhe. With him, a spangle-coated wizard, a terribly dapper frog, a wicked wolf in red cape, and a lovely ballet dancer, all designed so that strings can be easily untangled.

To accommodate the east Stuff has a five-foot-tall cardboard theatre ($5) which can be used either for hand puppets or stringed marionettes.

Bellows, Alice, the Mad Hatter, the White Rabbit and Tweedledum or is it Tweedledee are handsome hand-puppets made of felt with scrupulous detail to make each character authentic and distinctive. About $4 each.

Creative Playthings. Winnie-the-Pooh, Rabbit and Piglet puppets, and rubber "talking" puppets with mouths that move as the fingers move.

Zinder's Parrot, rooster and duck provide brightly colored puppets for the youngest hand. Heads are heavy plastic. Tuxedo-button marionettes have been made of the giddy Anne and Fred Flintstone—now there's a combination for you!

Allen's A ferocious pirate made of felt, an old man with a beard, who can obviously play many parts, an Indian tribe unpeified, and a female who is probably Gretel, make up part of the stock company here. Still plush animal puppets are always on hand.

Clayton's. Kersa's puppets have beautifully made faces and elaborate costumes. We like the witch (such character), the Court Jesler, the policeman and the terribly regal King and Queen. This store also has the Stelf plush puppet family.

indoor garden sweaters, with flowers on white.

Little girls who think they are big girls will respond, probably with squeals, to Thorne's Budding Beauty sets. Toilet water, powder and lotions come in delectable pink packaging, glamorous enough for the recipient, demure enough for the giver.

Thorne's also has Bubblebath Parfait, lime cherry or orange confection with an ice-cream top, and bubblebath underneath. In West Windsor, Thorne's has Tre-Jur Bubblebath, concealed behind a Drum Majorette, a Football Player, a Cowgirl, a Cowboy, and Betty Bubbles, a doll-shaped bottle full of bubbling good scents.

Stuff 'n Nonsense wants you to cram all of it into a trim suitcase, $12.50 to $35, made sturdily on wood and designed for dollclothes, but capable of encompassing one's own clothing as well.

BOYS? WE LOVE YOU

All Spruced Up. Now, about those boys. Hult's has a real fireman's boot for snowy days. It's black with dazzling yellow sole and trim, and black loops to pull it on. The boot on which that alarm rings at 2 a.m. (You can also use the loops to hang the boot on the engine, or from the post of your bunk bed.) $14.95.

Fringed leather jackets at Bellows are rust or taupe. Red vests, the size of a sneeze, are RID, and so are the red corduroy shirts.

Boys who shop at Allen's eschew the fancy lounging stuff on the girls' side, and go for red, blue or plaid robes Sports-shirts, knit or woven, are darkly striped or rurally checked. Some are regular shirts, some are pullovers with three buttons to close.

Big outdoor sweaters are big at Allen's. They come in Irish, Scandinavian, West German and Scotch, some with mohair, some with wool, some with both.

Our favorite at Allen's? The white pajamas with red fireman's hats all over.

Hult's winter boots, for boys, indoor boot, that it, has been made Eskimo style, with red and black frays around its moccasin toe and some kind of grey lung-hair fur. A warm slipper for boys, quite different from sister's, has a shearling cuff like a moccasin, and costs $2.95 in brown. Very aesthetic-explorer.

ONE MORE ROUND!

Who's Game? Aside from the games we mentioned somewhere else around here, there are others, of course, "Jungle Hunt" at Zinder's, for example, offers you the chance to outwit the charging rhino and shoot him down before he shoots you. Same store has electric hockey with a magnetic puck, and "Golfing" a miniature golf game "for the entire family."

The Flintstones are targets.

Juke, from 1870

Hear that polyphon? It's in Clayton's, spreading its music throughout the store this Christmas season. It came originally from Saxony and appeared publicly in Princeton for the first time last March when it was displayed at the Wellesley Antique Show.

It was there that Mrs. Garrison of Clayton's saw it and decided that her store was just the one to give it a home. A polyphon is a 19th-century juke box. Drop into the slot either an English penny or an American nickel, and the gears begin to turn and the old-fashioned music begins to spin out.

And isn't that a fascinating cabinet!

boys," all to color. You can make your own, with "Make Your Own Greeting Card," a British book with instructions that extend beyond Christmas to Happy Birthday and Easter.

University Store has a cut-out alphabet book based on Origami, and Pop-Up Origami or Johnnie-Book (nobody knows why, with animals that stand up when the pages open. You make a whale from "Happy Origami," or "The Whale Book."

Zinder's Magi-Cutter has a battery-operated saw to use on styrofoam for the making of Christmas figures, or anything else. With Mold Master, you can make plastic toys.

Meanwhile, the knitting craftswomen are asking for new bags from The Knitting Shop, like the chintz with its facile closing, or the tall, slim cylinder in 18th-century print. Now this year for devotees of the cylinder bag, is the tall box with needlepoint on the front.

Needle cases, fitted with rock needles, straight needles up to size 13, and crochet hooks, or unfitted cases which open flat to take in all kinds of needles already owned — delightful in dark or pastel stripes for the lady who knits by the warm glow of the television set.

Muscle to Make. For musicians, Kung Ping has a Chinese banjo made of snakeskin with metal butterfly decorations and metal openwork. $33. We like the Pepa, an old Chinese instrument, to be played with a nice feeling in your heart," according to Mr. Chang, who owns Kung Ping. He also likes the four-string lute, $35.

If all you can play is a radio or a phonograph, The Music Center will give you a record player for any amount from $20, or a transistor radio from $11.95. An FM table-model radio could be $29.95 or up.

The record most prominently displayed at the Music Center is by the Julian Bream Consort, with much of the music played when the group appeared in Princeton. Imports from the continent include recordings of Flagstad, and Schnabel flow about the complete Schnabel Beethoven, in set only, for $34.95. Talk about long-playing! Von Karajan has all nine Beethoven build, build, build with Lego, the modular construction block that can be used to build anything. It now has wheels and a platform, giving you something new to use with last year's set. Take a few rubber bands, use them strategically and you have a pull toy.

Zinder's moves into the future with the Sky Rail Girder and Panel building set, which you employ in order to build a monorail with sky stations and sky ports, towers, terminals and all the apparatus of the future. Lots of arrangements to make with the materials provided in the kit $10.97.

To get you in training, Allen's Busy Box, with its ten knobs, gears, buttons and hooks.

FOR FUN

Toy Toys. The kind of present we call "toy toys" because they are non-specific, are in delightful demand at Country Mouse. Here is the wooden top with handle and string to set it spinning ($1.25), and the two-inch red metal elephant who wags his head as you push him along, and the chick that pecks and the frog that jumps and the mouse that is so life-like he makes YOU squeak.

The Nu-Nu, from Western Germany, is a shaggy crew cut and a nose and that's all. He scoots along on wheels on his well-worn, we suppose. His friend is Roy the Frog, the Freudian Fur Ball, all fur and eyes.

Hobbies to Ride. Our hobbyists this year explore the Photography and Art Center for the water colors, brushes and 32 outline drawings called "I Can Paint Flowers" for "Birds."

The same house (Platt and Munk) has a coloring book of the life and habits of North American Indian tribes, "Children of the World" and "Cow-

The Christmas albums might be E. Power Biggs' organ music, Leonard Bernstein and the Mormon Tabernacle Choir or one of the Archive records of Christmas music from the High Renaissance, or Gregorian Chants.

The University Store has Robert Shaw's new "Many Moods of Christmas" and the Narry Simeone Chorale's "Wonderful Songs of Christmas." European Christmas Songs sung by the Munich Boys' Choir, the Columbus Boychoir record and the New York Pro Musica recordings of medieval music are all worthy of mention. But there are so many more!

A TIME FOR THOUGHT

Give a Book. "The Joyful Christmas Craft Book," by Kathryn Italy Seibel, published by D. Van Nostrand (Male's), and McCall's "Christmas Make-it Ideas for All the Family," (University Store) will turn any house hold into a hive of little elves.

Male's and U. Store both love the 1964 calendar for children with stickers which you slap onto eventful days: "Down - with - Mommy Day," reads one. "Down-with-Daddy Day" is another. There are

The Most Beautiful Book of the Year?

The crown for the year's most beautiful and treasured book goes to Harcourt Brace for "Chartres," a limited edition volume (only 1,600) which took seven years to compile.

Printed in France, it has magnificent black and white plates and indescribably lovely color plates of the cathedral windows. University Store has it for $85.

In the same category, U. Store has Horizon Press' portfolio of separate plates, "Buildings, Plans and Designs" by Frank Lloyd Wright. It's $75, and a fine companion piece to the Chartres, if you have $160 and a friend who studies architecture.

Ben Shahn's "Paintings and Graphic Arts" come together in a set for $22, edited by James Thrall Soby, and offered by the U. Store.

Male's Book Shop suggests the book on Tutankhamen published at $15 by the New York Graphic Society. Its colors, especially the photographic renderings of gold objects in the tomb, are beautifully luminous.

Andreas Feininger, a photographer for "Life," offers "The World Through My Eyes" ($12.50), his perspective of industry, people, natural phenomena, news events—the spectrum of a news photographer's working year. Male's puts it on your list.

The shop also suggests a volume devoted to the early American rooms at "Winterthur," ($8.50), "The Treasure House of Early American Rooms," with introduction by Francis DuPont. U. Store likes this one, too.

And Male's suggests, as a final "off-beat" present, a stubby four-by-six-inch volume called "Oriental Rugs in Colour." Just to look at, after Christmas dinner. ($2.95).

countdown stickers for birthdays and the last day of school (10, 9, 8, etc). There's a choice of report-card day stickers: good or bad, depending. (This calendar has two Decembers, by the way, so you can begin to use it RIGHT NOW).

"A White Heron," by Sarah

Orne Jewett, is a child's version of "Country of the Pointed Firs" ("I know where the heron's nest is, but should I tell?") She didn't!

U. Store, Male's and Bamberger's all shelve at Hitchcock's solve-em-yourself mysteries, and Rod Serling's "Twilight Zone," and all three thrill to Tex Maule's "The Game," official picture history of the National Football League. "An Illustrated History of the Olympics," at Male's and U. Store, recreates the great moments along with the amusing ones.

The University Store's "Greek Temples and Theatres and Shrines," with 35 lovely color plates and 176 monochrome plates is a thing of beauty and a joy forever. "Living with Antiques" brings to life another kind of antiquity. It's a treasury of private homes in America edited by the staff of "Antiques" magazine.

Mr. Male believes that this might be a more sober and thoughtful Christmas than most, and suggests that parents and young readers give one another such volumes as Eleanor Roosevelt's "Tomorrow is Now," Glenn D. Kittler's "Profiles in Faith," which explores the work done by various religions in building America (Mary Baker Eddy, Father Flanagan and William Penn are among those discussed), and John F. Kennedy's "Profiles in Courage," available in paperback or hard cover.

Incidentally, Male's has that four inch, one-dollar edition of "The Night Before Christmas," with its red, green and black ink drawings and a Columbia University Press facsimile of Dickens' "A Christmas Carol," boxed, hardback, for $1.95.

For children and adults, Male's recommends "Prayers from the Ark," translated from the French by Rumer Godden. It's a collection of 27 poems, each one delivered by an animal in the ark: a bee, a piglet, a monkey or a bear, each one composed with gentle humor and charm.

Sedans, station wagons, trucks and Karmann Ghias—we'll have them all at our Grand Opening today, doors open and ready to go.

Come in. Take one out for a demonstration drive.

Things you'll notice along the way: VWs are rattle free, easier to handle in traffic, park in little space. IVW Station Wagons, for example, are 4 feet shorter than conventional wagons, yet hold more and cost hundreds of dollars less!

Back at the showroom, ask about the VW engine in the rear that will go all day at top speed without strain. It's air-cooled. Can't boil over or freeze up.

Ask to see the parts and service department. Nothing can happen to any VW car or truck that we can't fix.

Then, ask to see figures on what any VW costs to run.

THE BIG ONES GET AWAY

From Tiger Football Teams. Twice this season, Princeton's football team was confronted with the need for defeating the strongest opposition in the Ivy League — Harvard and Dartmouth — which in the last five years have consistently made mincemeat of the Tigers.

For the third season in a row, both these opponents defeated Princeton in the games that counted most. In the last ten meetings with these teams, the Tigers have won just twice, and today they are saddled with the reputation that they cannot handle the big ones when the pressure is greatest.

In Saturday's 22-21 loss to a Dartmouth eleven which had been held to an average of less than two touchdowns by the other good Ivy entries, Princeton was guilty of one serious mistake after another. The snow-balling effect of the errors on the field and on the bench resulted in one of the most demoralized final quarters debited to a Tiger eleven within memory.

Each of the three most glaring mistakes — the kind that are understandable early in the season but never in the last game with a league championship in the balance — produced a touchdown for Dartmouth's band of opportunists. The manner in which Coach Bob Blackman's squad made the most of Tiger miseries left no doubt as to whether the better team had won.

Bad Pass, Bad Snap, Fumble. In the opening period, tailback Don McKay threw across the center of the line into a mixture of Princeton and Dartmouth players, linebacker Milt Steinhilber intercepting on the Princeton 31. Two plays later, the Green had a touchdown.

In the fourth period, after Dartmouth had marched 80 yards and jammed over a two-point conversion to cut Princeton's lead to 21-15, the Tigers slowly but surely came apart. A short, wobbly fourth-down snap from center cost them 40 yards or more when all punter Pete Riley could do was fall on the ball a dozen yards behind the line of scrimmage.

A good goal-line stand averted disaster temporarily, Princeton working the ball back from the one to its eight to set up a third and three situation. Iacavazzi's fumble — the kind of misplay a fine athlete sometimes makes in a crisis and with which he will live for months — followed and Dartmouth got the tying touchdown on the next play.

Gary Wilson's accurate conversion followed to break the temporary deadlock, the Tigers backing into a tie for the championship when Yale unexpectedly wallowed unpredictable Harvard, 20 to 6, at New Haven. The Crimson defeated both Dartmouth and Princeton with complete authority, but in almost inexplicable fashion, lost to the Elis, was tied by in-and-out Columbia and was the upset victim of the season when it lost to Penn, 7-2.

Passing Game Vanishes. No one but the quarterbacks and the coaching staff knows exactly why Princeton was unwilling to give its running game more of a chance by passing even occasionally. The Tigers threw just two — the first was intercepted to set up the victor's initial touchdown; the second came on the last play of the game, and when it fell incomplete, Princeton had the unenviable distinction of joining other inept teams in the Dartmouth record book as opponents who have failed to complete a single pass or gain a yard through the air against the Indians. Probably none of them, however, did so on a day when conditions were good enough to allow the Green to complete a respectable 9 for 21, the 95 yards gained playing a major role in its first two touchdowns.

NUMBER 14: Cosmo Iacavazzi, Princeton fullback, hurdles Dartmouth line for second period touchdown, his 14th of the season. The score set a Tiger record for TD's in one year and raised Iacavazzi's career total to 21. This ties record set by Ed Wittmer from 1927-'29. (Staff Photo)

Run, the Tigers could — but not when they needed to most in the final period. Earlier in the game, they first drew even at 7-7 when Iacavazzi went over from two yards out in the second period; then the third quarter was productive of two TD's by tailback Hugh MacMillan and an apparently safe 21-7 lead with just 16 minutes and 45 seconds to go.

The collapse followed, with Tiger fans hopeful that memories of the team's demoralized efforts to come within field-goal range in the final six minutes will somehow be buried by the winter snows. Of the eight plays on which the Tigers had the ball, only once did they pass — a wild-eyed heave that overshot the intended receiver as the clock ran out.

Long before that, Princeton was out of time outs and even out of ability to get its regular quarterback into the game when Iacavazzi recovered a Dartmouth fumble with something over a minute to go. The center and the tailback were the top choices and Don Roth — a defensive cornerback who hadn't called a play all season — had to run the team as the clock ticked off the agonizing final seconds.

AN ODD-BALL RACE

No Team a Standout. Despite the coaches' comments at the start of the season that the Ivy League looked stronger than it had since going formal in '56, no team belonged on the same field with any previous champion save the Pennsylvania eleven of 1959. Dartmouth deserves considerable credit for becoming the first Ivy entry to hold a share of first place for two consecutive years, but the Green was well below the form that Bill King and Don McKinnon set for it in last year's unbeaten season.

The Indians could not play consistently good ball, losing to Harvard and Yale and barely getting by Cornell. Harvard, as mentioned above, was the real puzzler in winning the games

It should and losing those it should not.

The rest of the league performed more or less as anticipated, with Yale earning praise by working its way into a first-division tie under a new coach and Columbia and Penn disappointing their followers with performances below the goals set by their coaches.

Princeton used its one-point victory over Columbia as a springboard to domination of the also-rans in the league, frequently in a manner that earned the Tigers a huckeul of superlatives that sadly proved undeserved. In somewhat parallel fashion in 1962, when it won its first three and then lost four of its last six for 6 and then faded sharply with only one victory in its three climactic games.

A look at 1961, a year away, only two sharp form changes appear likely. Cornell, without Gary Wood and Pete Gogolak appears destined for a spot near the cellar. Brown, losing very little by graduation and with two fine passers back in Jim Dunda and Bob Hall, should move sharply upward. Harvard and Dartmouth, equipped with a continuing flow of good material and backed with good coaching, again appear to be the top choices. Yale, having turned the corner more quickly than expected after its two miserable seasons of '61 and '62, will once again be a title contender.

Off its holdover personnel and some good backs on this

TIGER POUNCES ON INDIAN: Don Roth (20), Princeton linebacker, is about to grab Dartmouth quarterback Dana Kelly, who looks as if he were yelling for help. year's freshman squad, Princeton again is largely because it is likely to defeat Penn, Columbia and Cornell and at least one of the others. For the first time in league history, however, the Tigers have five games on the road—and in addition to existing difficulties, they are not always a good road team. The one-point victory at Columbia this fall and the solid defeat at Cornell are proof of that.

Next year, they must travel to Hanover, Philadelphia, Providence and New Haven—and who's to say that they will do as well as 5 and 2 in the league and 7 and 2 overall?

In a way, it's a good thing that the game with Dartmouth comes on the third Saturday of the schedule for a change. If Princeton can't win the big one, maybe it's just as well to find it out early in the season.

DEER SEASON TO OPEN
For Week on Monday, New Jersey's week-long firearm deer season will begin Monday, it has been announced by the State Division of Fish and Game.

Numerous adult bucks in good physical condition have been seen by bow and arrow and small game hunters, the division reported. The best game has been observed in northern New Jersey.

A large number of deer have also been observed in burned areas of the southern part of the state. Hunters are urged to take their game to one of nine New Jersey checking stations so that age and sex data may be recorded.

COLLIE, BASSET FIRST
At Training Club, A basset hound was awarded first prize in the beginners' group and a collie won first place in the intermediate class at graduation exercises held by the Princeton Dog Training Club.

Robert Sawyer of Princeton was the hound's master and the collie belonged to Ronald Prevost of Rocky Hill. Both dogs won with 194 points out of a possible 200.

Runners-up in the beginners division and their owners were a miniature poodle, Donald Mackeller of Trenton, a standard poodle, Raymond Mitchell of Princeton, and a German shepherd, Elaine Sullivan of Somerset. William Goedeke of Trenton and his German shepherd won second prize for intermediates, followed by another German shepherd trained by Julie Martin of Princeton and a mixed breed owned by Mrs. Marilyn Horn of Neshanic Station.

TIGER TRAINER CHOSEN
For Olympic Position, Edward Zanfrini, the head trainer at Princeton University, has again been named a trainer of the United States Olympic team.

He will join the squad in Boston on December 27 to depart for Innsbruck, Austria, the site of next year's Winter Olympics. Zanfrini has handled athletes for this country in three previous Olympic games.

Called by Tiger football coach Dick C'nan "the bristler in the country," Zanfrini came to Princeton in 1933. He was promoted to head trainer in 1939. When Princeton suspended intercollegiate athletics in 1941, he went to Dartmouth, returning to Princeton in 1947.

CASCIOLA IS SPEAKER
At Hun Sports Banquet, Bob Casciola, end coach of the Princeton University football team, was guest speaker at the annual fall athletic banquet held at the Hun School, Casciola was introduced by Hun athletic director Hawley Waterman.

At the affair, Bill Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Hunter of Carter Road, was announced as co-captain of the school's 1963 soccer team. Princeton area students who received awards are Bill Worthington, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Worthington, Walnut Road, and Peter Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeBaron Foster, 681 Prospect Avenue, both of Rte. 208, and Theodore W. Eckles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. ## BOWLING NOTES

Nassau Del Dehtessen won two of three games last week and took sole possession of first place in the Nassau League. The leaders hold a 44-42 point edge over Grover Lunnher and Tiger Garage.

Bill Frazer won scoring honors with a 235 game. Frank Saunio was runner-up with 218, followed by Elmer Perantoni, 217; Bill Dumble, 212; Bill Whalley, 208, and Otto Olsen, 200.

In "B" League action, Kase Kleeners maintained its four-point lead, 48-44, over Jugtown Delhtessen Key Shop and Maul Electric are tied for third with 40 points apiece.

Joe Baldino had the high single game, 210, and Jack Lucey rolled the top series, 201-201-197-599. Al Hihhard bowled 204, Ed Dayton, 203, and Bill Penelli and Tony Tamasi, 200 each.

Johnson Electric won its three games in the Three-Man Classic League and moved into a tie with Colonial Restaurant for first place. Each team has 20 victories. There were three 200-plus games in the league: Larry Golden, 225, and Mike Basile and Bruce Honslein, 216 apiece.

Jefferson Plumbing swept three games to move into a first-place tie with Nassau Shoe Repair in the Business Woman's League. Each team has 48 points and leads third-place Claxide Wine and Liquor by 12 points.

Lillian Burroughs was the top scorer for the second consecutive week. She bowled a 188 score, followed by Dot Silvester, 174, Ann Amalfitano and Gladys Millar, 168, and Marie Wiley, 160. Margaret Kovalakides and Peg Itanallo were average turkeys for surpassing their previous average.

Applegate Floral Shop doubled its lead in the Women's League with a three-game sweep. Applegate has 73 points and the Five Friends, in second place, have 65.

Gladys Baszczenwski, with a 200 game, edged Bea McBride by four pins for scoring honors. Others with outstanding

We were asked, "What would you say to a fellow who excitedly told you he had just seen a horse with a yellow face, brown body, and white legs with broad purple stripes, and short polished horns yet? The devil's own steed?" Well, if you called for the man in the white coat you'd be making a mistake, for there is such an animal. It's called an Okapi, it lives in the woods around the Semliki River in central Africa, where they travel in pairs (probably married), and they feed principally on leaves. Sometimes it's hard to accept even what you see, but then you've eventually got to agree that "seeing is believing." In the purchase of an automobile there are so many things that you cannot "see" you've simply got to take the dealer's word for it. Customer's confidence built up by the experience of hundreds of them is the basis for your taking our word for it. We pledge to you that your confidence in us will always be merited, for there are few things we prize more highly than the good will of a fair customer. ## Three Princetonians Are Named All-Ivy

Three Princeton players were named to an unusual 12-man All-Ivy football team selected by the coaches of the eight member colleges as the season ended.

They are Captain Bill Guedel, tackle; Cosmo Iacavazzi, fullback, and Jim Rothenbach, halfback. The latter and Dartmouth's Tom Spangenberg tied in the balloting, creating the unprecedented selection of a dozen players.

Dartmouth and Princeton each gained three places on the team, the Indians also placing end Scott Creelman and guard Bill Curran. Iacavazzi and Cornell's Gary Wood were unanimous selections, Columbia's Archie Roberts missing by one vote.

Scores were: Helen Scott, 189; Sara Rose, 183; Pat Brown, 180; Julia Marcoline, 179, Carol Lise, 178; Sandy Richey, 176; Betty Cuhberley, 172; Liz Barclay, 171; Doris Van Kirk, 169; and Dot Wheeler, 168.

SCHEDULE CHANGED

Army Basketball Friday. The postponement of the Army-Navy football game from last weekend to this resulted in inability of two Army teams to play here Saturday as originally scheduled. As a result, the basketball game with cadets has been moved ahead 24 hours and will take place Friday night at 8 in Dillon Gym. Army's hockey team, scheduled to meet Princeton Saturday afternoon in Baker Rink, will come here instead on February 11.

Every team but last-place Penn is represented on the honorary team. Paired with Creelman at end is Brown's pass-catching flanker John Parry. Yale's 235-lb. tackle Abbott Lawrence was the other choice for that position with Guedel, while the guard named with Curran is Harvard captain Bill Southmayd. The Crimson also earned recognition at center when Brad Stephens was named.

Four of the selections are juniors who will seek to repeat in 1964. In the line, Parry and Lawrence will play again for Brown and Yale; Columbia's Roberts and Princeton's Iacavazzi are the backs who have another year ahead of them.

The Tiger quintet, scheduled to open its season this Wednesday night against highly-regarded Villanova, will play its first road game next Wednesday when it goes to Easton to meet Lafayette. Next Saturday, it will be at Annapolis to play Navy, which is always tough to beat on its home court.

The Tigers' December lineup will be juggled fairly frequently by Bill Van Breda Kolff, partially because several promising sophomores need testing in varsity action and to a great degree because Captain Bill Howard and Don Roth just finished football last week. Expectations are that both will hold the starting positions they had last winter, but not before several tough December games have passed.

HE RENAMED THE GAME: Ever since this 6-5 resident of Crystal City, Mo., arrived on the Princeton scene, the winter sport played in Dillon Gymnasium has been known as "Bradleyball." An All-American as a sophomore, he will again attract huge crowds with his picturesque play.

Spotlight on Bradley. The interest that Bill Bradley generated throughout the east and, in some degree, across the country last season is already mounting steadily. He seems a sure bet to earn wide recognition on All-America teams as a junior, after having been named to two last winter.

Van Breda Kolff is on record as feeling that there aren't five better college players in the country. He points out that many top players are merely steady high-scorers, and that Bradley is invaluable "without the ball."

The Tiger star is a top defensive player and a basketball rarity in that he would rather pass than shoot. If the Tigers can develop just one good outside shot whom Bradley can feed, the 40-plus points such a pair would average per game will beat most of their opponents this winter. Last year, Bradley and Captain Art Heyland averaged 44 points between them as the team rolled to the Ivy title and a fine 19-6 record.

For the Record. Bradley's impact on Princeton and the Ivy League in his first year was greater than that of any other player in the history of the Ancient Eight. He broke four of the Tigers' five principal records in the sport and led the league in every one of seven departments in individual scoring. He set two Ivy records in foul shooting and his percentage of .893 from the foul line was second best in the country.

Among the highlights of his first season were ability to set these Princeton scoring records: 40 points in one game (against St. Joseph's in the NCAA playoffs); 21 free throws (against Cornell at Ithaca, also an Ivy record); 385 points in Ivy play; and 682 points in one season. The only Princeton record he did not reach was the mark of 15 field goals in one game, which John Siebert '34 set 31 years ago.

In most cases, Bradley broke the record book wide open. For example, he topped Pete Campbell's previous high of 501 for one season by 181 points. If the Tigers add to their current 26-game schedule by going into the NCAA playoffs again, it is within the realm of possibility that he might score more points in two seasons than Campbell did when he made 1451 in three.

HOCKEY TEAM LOSES. 5-3 To Boston University. A four-goal deficit that it faced at the end of the first period was more than the Princeton hockey team could make up in its opener Saturday night, the Tigers losing, 5-3, to Boston University.

Defensive difficulties told much of the story, inexperienced Princeton players frequently laying the puck on their opponents' sticks as they sought to move it away from the cage. The visitors had an edge in speed and depth, but tended to coast during the final two rounds after taking a 4-0 lead in the first 20 minutes.

Steve Cook, wearing number 9 as brothers Pete and Johnny did before him, got the first Princeton goal in the second period, jamming it into the nets from close in. Mike Spence and Em Hall narrowed the gap in the final period, Spence beating the B.U. goalie on a wide angled shot from 25 feet out and Hall getting his on a scrimmage just outside the crease.

Captain Gerry Skoning and Spence skated on the first line that Mike Peterman centered. One reserve unit consisted of Em Hall and Princetonians Pomy Fraker and George Peterson, while the third line was made up of sophomores Cook, Bob Bruser and Gordon Park.

Buss Hall and Cam McEwen, two other sophomores, were the defensive starters, with —Continued on Page 36

Sam Abernathy and Mac McMorris, a PCD graduate with Cook, Traker and Peterson, as blue line reserves. Dick Itoce, a junior who saw little action last winter, was in the goal, gaining visibly in confidence as the game progressed.

The Tigers outshot BU 37 to 23, but nonetheless had trouble mounting a steady attack. The 5-3 defeat was, however, encouraging in comparison to last year's set-to with Boston University, which won then, 12 to 1.

BORZOK IS OPTIMISTIC
On basis of Experience, "On my experience alone, I'm optimistic," said coach Tony Borzok, discussing the outlook of the Princeton High School basketball team.

There is not much more to say can weigh at the moment in evaluating his present squad. Following scrimmages against New Brunswick and Pennsylvania high schools last week, the potential of the squad was still largely an unknown factor.

This was due primarily to the absence of every returning letterman except one — captain Dave Hill. In the process of cleaning up football responsibilities were co-captain Tom Waters, Larry Madden, Jimmy Case, Pete Heiberger and Pete Webber. "All I had left to work with," reported Borzok, "were the novice players and a couple of newcomers."

However, a scrimmage against Morrisville — played Wednesday — and another against South River on Friday will serve to eliminate some of the question marks. After South River, PHS has one week left before its opener December 13 at Hightstown.

No Vacancies. Blessed with the return of six lettermen, Borzok who limits his varsity squad to 12, had only six spots to fill. At the moment, Borzok's dozen is already secure. Two of the six openings were filled by newcomers.

They are Ronald Pulling, 6-1

MR. OUTSIDER: Jimmy Case, Princeton High School basketball veteran, will team with co-captain Dave Hill and play the outside in the Little Tiger attack. The 5-11 senior averaged 9.7 points per game last season.

or homore from Oklahoma, and Jim Tucker, a 6-2 junior from Maryland. Of the two, Tucker is the stronger, heavier and more experienced. "From a certain area, Tucker has a good shot and he may be able to help us," Borzok said.

Others who have been moved up are juniors Cary Klink and Tom Budinger. Klink is not tall for a basketball player but Budinger at 6-6 is the tallest player on the squad. "Budinger's height will help, even if only for psychological reasons," said Borzok.

Two seniors — David Turner and Jim Jones — round out the squad. A soccer player, Turner has never played basketball before Jones, on the other hand, seems to fall into an "either-or" classification. Either he is going to make it big or he isn't going to do much of anything. "If he sticks it out," Tony didn't finish but the hopeful inflection in his voice was unmistakable.

The core of the team will be Waters, 6-3; Madden, 6-0; Hill, 5-8; Case, 5-11, and Heiberger, 6-4. Webber, 6-3, will serve as a sixth man. This lineup, slightly taller than last year's team, is capable of winning basketball. But there are a few big "ifs."

Foremost is the absence of a "lake charge" player to replace Hank Schmidt who filled this need so well last year. "I need someone who has a fighter's instinct to take over, someone who won't collapse under fire. It's something I need and I don't have him yet," said Borzok. Most likely candidate is Dave Hill.

Quickness Isn't There. A second big "if" is how soon the team can forget football and adapt to the quicker reflexes basketball demands. "The quickness isn't there," Borzok reported. "It may mean we will have to play a deliberate type of game much as we did last year. I'm not saying it may not come; we may be able to go fast, but I don't know yet."

A coincident question mark is finding a quintet that works well together as a team. Off the spotty first scrimmages, Tony said that he didn't have five working together for any length of time. Last year, he was able to forge a fluid team early in the season and he stuck with it game after game with few changes.

Finally, there are the players themselves. Dave Hill still suffers from lightheaded during a game. As a result he can be hot one game and ineffective the next. Heiberger "has a nice shot from the 12-foot area going for him," said Borzok but, at the same time, he is a "gentleman player" which limits his potential. Case is a "scraper offensively" but he is pushing too hard, according to Borzok. All to a degree are weak on defense, the coach reports.

And so it goes. Despite the number of uncertainties, Borzok is not worried. Nor should he be. With one exception, PHS plays the same 18 opponents it met last winter. It won all but four, and PHS was not hurt as much by graduation as some schools undoubtedly were.

As if underlining how premature it is to be worrying about starting fives and winning seasons, Borzok said: "We have December, January, February and on into March to go. It's a long winter."

LAKIE TEAMS READY
To Begin Winter Season. The Lawrenceville hockey team will open the school's winter season Saturday on Lavo Rink with the Franklin and Marshall Hockey Club. The team will play the Princeton freshmen at Princeton on Wednesday and will be at Lavo Rink the following Saturday to oppose the Cranford Hockey Club.

The basketball team will get its season under way next week. Poly Prep will be the opponent Wednesday at home and Saturday the team will travel to Pennsylvania to play the Haverford School.

GAME SATURDAY
In Junior High Basketball. The Princeton YMCA Basketball League will start Saturday with a game for seventh and eighth graders at the Princeton High School gymnasium.

The league will continue until March when playoffs will be held to determine first and second place teams. Openings still exist on each of the four league teams and interested boys may contact the Y office or appear at the gym with their equipment.

Well, Jerry,
shall we make this number 13!

That just might be what Nassau-Conover Motors' sales representative Bill Maddon, is asking Gerald H. Bauer, plant manager for Midcast Aluminum Corporation at Dayton. After all, Midcast does have a Ford product fleet of 12 vehicles—from tractor-trailers to executive cars. Incidentally, Jerry and Midcast are winners of the Aluminum Association's award for designing and producing one of the smallest hollow extrusions ever made, developed for defense experimental work.

5 day delivery from receipt of order anywhere within 150 miles — that's Midcast's policy and MAC's tremendous growth since its beginning 4 years ago is due in part to its ability to live up to this policy. Not only does the Ford station wagon equipped sales force make their calls with trouble free driving and ease, but the 4 tractors are ready to roll with their loads when needed, thanks to Ford's engineering and minimum maintenance performance. And while Midcast Aluminum are specialists in light weight and hollow extrusions, these trucks cover many, many miles, over all types of roads and in all weather.

If you have an automotive problem, be it fleet size or single car size, why not do as so many Princeton area businesses and individuals do every day—talk it over with the friendly staff of Nassau-Conover Motors, Route 206 at Cherry Valley, WA 1-6400. Nassau-Conover Motor Company, serving Princeton for over 40 years with the Ford family of fine cars and trucks.

"Well satisfied with the product and the excellent service from the dealer" was the way one of MAC's officers put it when Bill called to inquire about the newest fleet addition. ## Obituaries

Dr. Johnson led Princeton's "P-Rade" in a white convertible last June, and attended Princeton athletic events until his death. He was writing a book on theology before he died, and would have celebrated his 98th birthday December 3.

In addition to his sons, he is survived by two brothers, Walter L. and Roswell of Ossining, N. Y.; seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. The funeral was held at the First Presbyterian Church, West Chester, with a graveside service at Princeton Cemetery.

Mrs. Penelope van Dyck Ashley, 60, died December 2 at her home, 195 Harrison Street, after a short illness. She was the widow of Dexter Ashley Jr.

Born and raised in Lawrenceville, Mrs. Ashley was the daughter of the late Francis Cuyler van Dyck, former headmaster of the Lawrenceville School. She was a graduate of Miss Fine's School and the Katherine Gibbs Secretarial School, New York City. A resident of Princeton for the past 22 years, Mrs. Ashley was secretary at Princeton Country Day School for more than 25 years.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Douglas C. Heacock of Cranbury and a son, Dexter

Ashley 30, a staff sergeant in the United States Air Force, Okinawa; five grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. Florence Bucher of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in Princeton Methodist Church, the Rev. Charles Marker officiating. Interment will be at the convenience of the family in Winchester Center (Conn.) Cemetery. Friends may call at the Kimble Funeral Home, 1 Hamilton Avenue, between 7 and 9 p.m. on Thursday.

INTERESTING POSITION OPEN SOON

TOWN TOPICS will have a position in its Advertising Department open early in 1967. Duties involve planning display advertisements with Princeton area merchants, including copywriting and layout. Previous experience helpful but not essential—if we feel you have the right qualities and you like working "on the outside" with people, we will train you.

This is not a "9 to 5" job—hours will vary depending on day of the week. Compensation ranges from time off for extra hours worked to steady salary increases based on performance. Annual bonus and participation in company profit-sharing plan.

Applicants should write rather than call, giving brief resume on employment and biographical facts; marital status, date of availability and salary requirements. We are interested in discussing the position with both men and women.

Framed by handsome spruces, hemlocks and pines, this one-story shingle house has two-way possibilities. Perfect for a retired couple, it has living room with fireplace, combination kitchen-dining room, 3 bedrooms and bath, all sunny, clean and sizeable. The grounds are small enough for easy care; but a long sweep of neighboring lawn gives a feeling of space with, happily, no need for maintenance. The house also has good growth possibilities (the present owners have plans and estimates); and the appealing location makes expansion worthwhile. Whether you want it small or stretched, it could be a bargain, as the owners must leave town. Asking price $26,000, but offers will be submitted.

WE APPEAL TO

All Princetonians who are anxious to share their Christmas with others, with others whose ways of life and tightly clenched, almost unbreathed hopes for the future force them to live in the shadows of despair where Christmas can be one more long, gray day.

Because Christmas, particularly in a world torn by fears and beset by nagging doubts, is the season for inner as well as for outer joy, and because all too seldom do youngsters thirsting for happiness and a sense of belonging come to feel that Christmas is also for them, TOWN TOPICS presents the following paragraphs for the entire community:

There are in our midst several dozen boys and girls who are the victims of situations and forces they may well never grasp. They range in age from toddlers to disarming mature teenagers, and they could be called Princeton's "perplexed, or forgotten, few." While their basic, every-day needs, such as food, a home of sorts, medicines, and coats and rubbers for school, are met by the established welfare services, what they need — and crave above all else — is the assurance that children are wanted, and never more than at Christmas, and that grown-ups do not live for grown-ups alone.

Very often it is creeping worry and fear, whether forcing Tom, 17, to seek solitary and urgently-needed solace in his "weird" abstract drawings or making the hours of darkness a series of agonizing nightmares for 7-year old Margie, that are hard to define and even more difficult to resolve. The unseen problems of the individual child and the complicated relationships between human beings are crucial issues on which lives can be wrecked beyond salvage — unless, somehow or other, they are given the kind of thoughtful assistance and guidance which are as important as tinsel or bright lights, or laughter around a decorated Christmas tree.

The case of 15-year old Paul, the only child of his mother's first marriage and dreadfully resentful of his stepfather as a usurper, documents how agencies working in cooperation can turn a mixed-up boy from one path to another. A deep admirer of his father, a virile, athletic man, who died tragically in an automobile accident, Paul harbored a mistaken conception of manliness and, until apprehended and referred to the Family Service Agency by the Police, blindly followed at times criminal examples of boys years older than himself. A wise teacher-coach, after-school, jobs and sponsored memberships in service groups snapped the behavior pattern and brought a potential juvenile delinquent "back to society" as a young man of promise.

Town Topics

There is every reason to believe that Christmas, 1963, will be a new starting-point for wonderfully courageous Mrs. T. and her two appealing children. 13-year old Peggy and Tony, age 12. Some six years ago divorce came to the T. household, and this mother, now 45, alone shouldered the responsibility for rebuilding her children's world. These three together were winning their uphill battle when Mrs. T. fell victim to tuberculosis. For three tortuous years the mother was institutionalized, dollar resources dried up, and Peggy and Tony made their home with grandparents in their 70's.

The step-by-step return to normalcy from 36 months in a sanitarium was anything but easy. A tiny apartment was found and furnished, financial exorcism was arranged, a skilled counselor guided Mrs. T. through her growing fears "that I might have to go back." After six months, with Peggy and Tony regaining their buoyancy and once more participating to the hilt in school life, the doctors have given Mrs. T. a "clean bill of health" — and permission to work. With continuing oversight, there can now be a future for three who want only "to share one another."

Among the victims of whom we write are two devoted, seldom-smiling sisters, and yet inseparable companions, age 8 and 5, whose attractive but unsettled parents are beginning to see that little girls need time, attention and love even when family crisis rends the air. And there is 5-year old Michael, a handsome and listless "loner" bracketed at home by an energetic 10-year old sister and two-year old twin brothers, whose disturbing reactions in kindergarten and incapacity to grasp a stern father's orders have been traced at long last to slight brain damage, a condition which is slowly responding to painstaking care.

Amount needed: upwards of $5,000 to enable the Family Service Agency and allied services to extend to these citizens-of-tomorrow the understanding and highly specialized help which will guide them through the maze of bewilderment and will ultimately mean the difference between despair and hope, between apathy and faith in the things that really count.

THIS APPEAL IS MADE ONLY IN TOWN TOPICS. THERE WILL BE NO OTHER SOLICITATION OF ANY KIND AND NO ONE BUT YOU WILL EVER KNOW WHETHER OR NOT YOU PASS THEM BY.
